"Fantastic! Mr. Stockdale was one of the best speakers I have ever heard. I learned some principles that I will be able to use in all of my relationships."

Dan Stockdale is a well respected speaker and businessman who has achieved considerable success in various industries – healthcare, music and real estate. His lifelong love of exotic animals (and his resulting experience in training and handling these animals) combined with his business success and a degree in Psychology enable Dan to understand and provide a breadth of insights few instructors and/or speakers can match. Dan has experience in positively transforming corporate cultures utilizing his education, his business acumen and his unique skills in exotic animal training.

"Very fascinating how humans and animals are very much alike. I had never really thought about this but it was like a light bulb going off during the presentation. The animals were great! ...especially the tiger."

Dan Stockdale knows that true leadership is an adventure like none other. His tailored presentations address the key challenges that organizations and leaders at all levels of experience face everyday. Here are a few of Dan's most popular presentations.

Taming Tigers

We all have our own "tigers" in our daily work. How we respond often defines patterns of success or failure. Taming Tigers is a dynamic, multimedia event that Dan tailors to the specific needs of your organization. In this presentation, Dan teaches principles to achieving success and mastering leadership while conquering the wild and unexpected challenges your team faces in the real world.

From a senior executive team dealing with hostile shareholders and challenging board members, to a group of customer service representatives working the front lines, Taming Tigers is specifically tailored to address the business challenges facing employees today in ways that produce immediate, easy-to-implement solutions.

It's a Jungle in There!

All organizations want to achieve excellence. Many talk about it. Some make a concerted effort to attain it. But only a select few actually ever achieve it. It's a Jungle in there! is a perfect 45-minute closing session that recognizes when you are charged with leading an organization, a division, a department, a project team, you are leading people! With people comes human behavior. With human behavior come challenges. Dan's disarming and humorous presentation addresses the real world of leadership challenges and what leaders can do to recognize and overcome challenges before they disrupt progress.

This amazingly effective presentation is a "must have" for your next event or convention! <more presentations on the other side>

Houston, We Have a Problem!

Crisis can strike in an instant! Are you and your organization prepared? Do you have the leadership skills necessary to take control through a pre-planned, methodical approach to problem-solving and crisis management? Are you ready to learn the tried-and-true methods used by NASA to save the lives of the astronauts of the Apollo 13 mission?

Dan's high-impact approach to addressing the basic principles of managing a crisis situation are as refreshing as they are practical. This presentation and Dan's "7 Keys to Effectively Leading Through the Storm" are an absolute must for every leader's toolbox.

"This couldn't have happened at a better time! [Your presentation] is relevant to some issues that we have in our workplace right now! Thank you!"

Yes, they are the real thing!

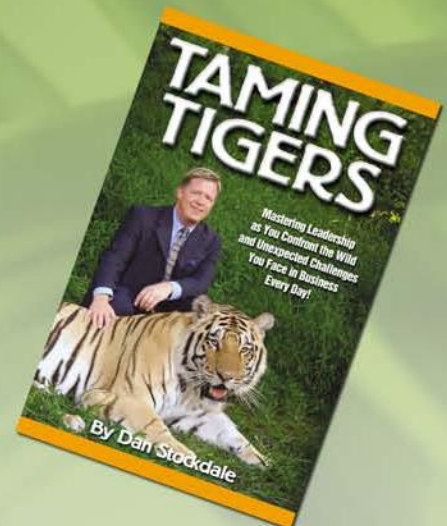

Dan often uses exotic animals in his presentations to illustrate his powerful, unforgettable message. But these exotics are more than just attention-getters. Dan's background in psychology and his experience with handling and studying exotic animals has helped him develop powerful leadership strategies based on operant conditioning and positive reinforcement in ways that revolutionize the companies who adopt them.

Dan uses the animals in his presentation to clearly illustrate basic principals that leave a lasting impression. Whether the animals are on stage with Dan or presented in high-quality video, their presence is unforgettable.

Taming Tigers

The book Dan has written, Taming Tigers, covers the story of how he discovered the lessons of leadership greatness--and how Dan's passion to lead others on their own Adventure in Leadership was ignited.

Dan demonstrates that great leaders foster an environment of collaboration and trust. They have exceptional foresight, are active listeners and empower others.
